This book tells the dramatic events in the lives of six individuals who overcame great difficulties to become American heroes who continue to inspire us today. Susan Anthony was arrested for voting and found guilty by a directed verdict written before the trial began, but she continued to work to gain for women the right to vote. George W. Carver born as a slave, kidnapped as an infant, overcame life long hardships to become a world-class botanist who changed the way of life for the poor Southern farmer. Thomas A. Edison was called a failure when thousands of his experiments were unsuccessful. He refused to give up and is now recognized as the world's greatest inventor. Abraham Lincoln endured many personal disappointments but preserved the Union during the Civil War and proved to the world that democracy works. Sequoyah worked entirely alone, rejected even by his own family but developed an alphabet so his Cherokee nation could learn to read and write. Harriet Tubman escaped slavery and risk her life using the Underground Railroad to escort more than 300 Southern slaves to freedom in the North.
